Course Overview

In this class we will take a literature approach to learn the early history of the United States of America. From the vikings to the journey West, we will learn about important events, people and places that have shaped America. Students will be active and engaged as we read good literature, explore some rabbit trails and do mapping exercise. We will also learn important geography skills and concepts, notebooking skills, create timelines, play games and do plenty of hands-on activities to make history come alive!

Meet the Tutor

Hi there! I'm Bradi Dykstra. I'm a graduate of Texas Christian University with a degree in Education. I'm a wife, a homeschooling mother of 4, a lover of Jesus, art, history, books, design, nature, sunshine and coffee! This will be my third year teaching at REACH. I have also taught Outdoor Education for the YMCA of the Rockies, in public schools and bible for Bible Study Fellowship. I'm passionate about teaching kids using good literature and hands-on activities to make learning fun and memorable!
