What are you excited to learn about in Nature and Me this year?

Ages 7-9
4th Period 1:15-2:35

I have fallen in love with nature studies over the last four years. I hope to bring the love of nature study into the classroom. For the last few years we have focused on nature in our own backyard. This year we will expand on that by learning about nature around the world. Each month we will have a different topic. Exploring and learning more about mammals, birds, ecosystems, plants, and trees around the world. I will also include geography through these lessons. Children are naturally creative so monthly nature art will also be a fun part of class.

“If you truly love nature, you will find beauty everywhere.”
~ Laura Ingalls Wilder

Hi, my name is Jaime Rogers. I'm a homeschool mom to four amazing girls whom I've had the privilege of homeschooling for the past 9 years. I'm married to my best friend of 24 years. When I'm not doing laundry or homeschooling, I love hanging out with family, listening to worship music, reading books, and drinking coffee.

My husband and I made a choice a few years ago to move from a residential neighborhood to the country. Since then I have found that being surrounded by God's amazing creation has led our homeschooling to be more adventurous and exploratory. I hope to share that same wonder and beauty God has placed all around us to encourage and enhance your student's academic exploration in my classroom.
