

LITTLE MELODIES

- Tutor: Sari Wright • 3rd Period: 1:15–2:35
- Ages: 3–7 years • Email: sarilwright@gmail.com

In Little Melodies, lower elementary students will embark on a joyful journey into the world of music! Through singing, dancing, instrument exploration, crafts, and hands-on activities, students will discover the basic building blocks of music—including rhythm, simple notation, solfège (do-re-mi), and the unique sounds of many different instruments. Whether your child is brand new to music or already learning an instrument, this class is designed to nurture a love of music in a fun, engaging, and Christ-centered environment. Each week, children will experience the joy of music-making while learning how they can use their voices, bodies, and instruments to praise our Savior. Students will grow in musical confidence and creativity—laying a solid foundation for future music education.

Meet the Tutor:

I'm a homeschool mom to four children (ages 12, 10, 7, and 3) with a lifelong passion for teaching and learning through play. I've been teaching in various capacities throughout my life, and it's something that continues to bring me deep joy and purpose. I studied both music and educational methods in college, which laid a strong foundation for the work I do now. I incorporate Charlotte Mason's gentle, literature-rich philosophy into our homeschool, encouraging curiosity, creativity, and a love of learning. In addition to homeschooling, I've spent the past several years coaching gymnastics for toddlers and early elementary-aged kids, gaining hands-on experience in guiding young learners through movement and play-based activities. Coming from a musical family, music has always been central to my life—from studying music theory and sight-singing to playing violin and singing in choirs—and I'm especially passionate about integrating music into early childhood education in a joyful, exploratory way. This will be my fourth year teaching at REACH and I'm so excited for what God has in store!
