Course Description

Join us in Little House class to meet new friends, read and discuss historically-based books about amazing young girls, and create beautiful and treasured art projects. Through the eyes and words of author Laura Ingalls Wilder, we'll learn about the late 1800's and the life she led in a true pioneer family in the midwest. We'll also read the stories of American Girl Kirsten Larson, who represents the middle 1800s Western European immigration/pioneer era. By using these timeless literature works as spring boards, students will explore history, grow in communication and confidence, and nurture sweet friendships.
