

Grades 10-12

Course Objectives—

Parent Version

- To create perfectly healthy, balanced and emotionally mature students
- To help students to consistently honor their parents, bring them great acclaim and boost the parent's self-esteem as a model parent for the rest of the world to emulate
- To teach students to communicate with their parents in more than monosyllabic grunts
- To learn about yourself as you grill your student about what happened in class

Student Version

- To come together with friends, new and old, for a fun and engaging time full of interesting experiments and activities that just might have some real-life applicability
- To help you understand why your friend acts so weird sometimes
- To see how you might one day actually make some money by zapping or feeding rats all day, or by playing with little kids, or being able to sit down with someone and enlighten them with your great wisdom and then be able to tell them what to do with their lives (which you already do anyway, but hey, why not get paid for it?)

Reality

I am a Christian homeschooling father of 4 wonderful boys whom God has given my wife and I as our own psychology experiment.

I have spent over 25 years as a Christian counselor and have a passion for helping people see the person that they are in whom God takes great delight.

I have taught this class many times and greatly enjoy interacting with the students and joining them on the road to discovering God's creative work in us.

I also want to give students a taste of some of the many interesting areas in the field of psychology while preparing them to be discerning in what they may hear in college classes or in the media that doesn't line up with biblical principles.

Classes will include group discussion, experiments, and personal discovery. There will be quizzes at the end of each unit as well as a mid-term exam and a final exam.

Cost-- $350 per student and can be paid one time during the first week of class or $200 at the beginning of the class and $150 by January 25, 2023.

Some topics covered:

Learning and Motivation

Personality

Perception

Experimental Psychology

Depression

Forensic Psychology

Abnormal Psychology

Communication

Therapy

Behavior Modification

Physiology

Developmental Psychology

Diagnostics

Family Systems

Gender

Group Therapy

Some feedback from past students:

Good class. Very useful in all aspects of life. I recommend it.

You won't regret it!

Overall, this class has been a huge help to me. Not only in coming to know myself better, but also understanding others.

I liked that it was interesting and easy to stay awake.

You really get a good look into the field of psychology.

I would tell others to take this class as it is a unique class. Many high school students enjoy psychology as it explains many things that students often wonder about.

It's really interesting and fun!

Probably one of my favorite classes.

This class is the best! I learned so much that helped me in life.

Mr. Maybee's Psychology class really prepared me for taking college classes.

I like how the class was taught: very interactive and everyone had the freedom to say what they thought.

Even if you don't like psychology, this class will at least make you more interested. The humor added in that's mixed with experiments livens up the class. Take this class, and I promise you, you won't regret it.
