Greetings! My name is Amber Salo and I am a homeschool mom to four amazing girls and “fur mom” to two rambunctious dogs. My husband and I will be celebrating our 20th Anniversary this year and we live in a cedar house nestled in the woods frequented by woodland animals. We enjoy camping, playing games, and listening to music together. My family has been part of the homeschooling community for the past six years and I am excited to be able to invest time into the littlest of our community through my class, “Little Rays of Light.”

As a young child I nicknamed myself, “Sunshine” because I had an intrinsic desire to bring God’s light and hope to those who found themselves in darkness. My mission compelled me to pursue a teaching career where I have had countless opportunities to instill the intrinsic worth of each person within my classes. I have had the privilege of teaching children of various ages within the public school setting, at co-ops, at childcares, and within churches in Indiana and Michigan. I bring with me a degree in Elementary Education with endorsements in Early Childhood, Integrated Creative Arts, Mathematics, and Science. I love making learning academics fun and emphasizing the development of the whole child including voice, listening skills, socialization, and character development. I can’t wait to meet your little one and share the adventurous journey together discovering God’s greatness.

Class Overview:

This class is designed to focus on the development of the heart and the spirit as well as the mind so that children will be better equipped “for every good work.” It will provide the students with opportunities to problem solve, to collaborate, and to learn academic studies in a fun environment. It will also encourage students to memorize scripture, retell Bible stories, build a passion for the Lord, freely demonstrate their love for Him, and inspire them to share God’s light with others as the song clearly states, “This little light of mine, I’m going to let it shine.”

What will a typical class involve?

- “Hiding God’s Word in our heart” by memorizing scripture using choreographed motions.
- “Making a joyful noise” to the Lord by singing praises, dancing, and utilizing instruments.
- Reading the Bible and other stories and practicing good character traits.
- Participating in circle time, creating crafts, participating in large and fine motor activities, playing games, and learning in academic centers where art, mathematics, science, phonics, and more will be presented.
- Build friendships and foster personal growth through usage of voice, listening skills, and character development.
- Learning their value and the value of others in God’s eyes and having fun sharing their “light” with their classmates.
