

DBSS Fitness & Sports

1st - 8th Grades

Contact Information: Dan Bulley 269-924-8704 dan.bulleyss@gmail.com

Students will:

- focus on improving physical fitness through multiple challenges.
- participate in various exercises, games and sports to improve skills and knowledge.
- focus on good sportsmanship and teamwork by participating in team sport activities.

Instructors will use motivation and sports psychology techniques to help students become more confident and knowledgeable about their bodies. They will engage in different movements and dynamic stretching as well as work at developing speed and agility while learning about the muscle anatomy of their body and movement.

Students will need a water bottle, athletic wear, and tennis shoes for participation.

About the Tutors

Adam Wright is the middle child of three boys, born and raised in Southend-On-Sea Essex, England. He has always loved soccer. Adam played for Olivet College and professionally for Detroit City FC. He began coaching in 2014 and is currently the Head Coach at Jackson College.

His passion is educating youth in sports drawing from his own vast experiences. When not playing soccer, Adam enjoys playing golf.

Dan Bulley is from Devon England. He received a degree in Sociology from SUNY Buffalo and completed his Masters degree in Coaching Sports Performance at WMU. He received several soccer scholarships and played at the collegiate level. In 2009, his team represented Great Britain at the 2009 World University Games in Serbia. After college he played on several professional teams.

While he continued to play, Dan's attention turned toward coaching. In 2015, he started Dan Bulley Soccer School (DBSS) which holds numerous classes and camps as well as sponsoring teams throughout southern Michigan.

Dan teaches to inspire and motivate young minds. He often states that he was fortunate to have great teachers and coaches while growing up and believes it's his duty to give back and help kids reach their potential.
